Dedication

To that great vanguard, that great body of men and women who have gone from I.S.N. and brought credit to their Alma Mater, who have been an inspiration to us, we dedicate this volume. To you who have gone into the world and made a name for yourself and your school, you who have repaid with services to the race the favors of your School and State, to you who have found life worth while and, with the ebb and flow of the sands of time, have helped the race create new and nobler ideals, to you, Our Alumni, we dedicate this volume.

Greetings

IT is not without a sense of joy mingled with sorrow that we present this volume at this time. There are pleasure and joy in the fact that we have passed another milestone on the course of our insatiable ambitions and endeavors. Pleasure and joy are found in the thought that we are to face the world and accomplish things worth while, in the thought that at last we are going to test our strength and meet the cold, stern, rebuffs and relentless demands of existence. There are joy and pleasure in the fact that there are no limitations to our desires and aims save those that are self-imposed by indifference, neglect, and the tendency to follow the line of least resistance.

On the other hand, there are sorrows and misgivings, since we must part from those friends and associations that have become near and dear to us. Much that has been a part of our life here shall be no more. No more shall we gather in the class rooms; no more shall we hear the hum of the gathering for the Chapel exercises; no more shall we steal through the halls to "that secret bower." The bulletin board with its announcements will belong to the past; those pleasant hours in the library are gone. In short, our jolly, care-free college days are over. The World is calling us, calling us to life and action, and we must answer this reveille without delay. College days are over; they, with their toil and study, with their bitterness and joy, remain only as pleasant memories.

In the years to come, may you find joy and inspiration in this volume, when, bent with the toil and labor of the years, you raise a careworn hand to brush the silver locks from a tear-bedimmed eye and disclose to view a careworn and weather-beaten countenance enriched with the halo of the years. Then, as your vision pierces the vale of tears and you see into the future, may you be able to say, "I have not lived in vain. Hope is the mainspring of life. The vicissitudes of life are many, but recollections of pleasant days at I. S. N. have always been an inspiration." As you reach the summit of the Hill and descend into the Valley, the Delectable Mountains will gleam in the distance, and, as echoes of voices far away whisper the coming of that glad day when memories shall glow as andirons under the fiery heat of the Yule-log, may this volume help you live again the grand and good old days of college life at I. S. N.

The work of the Convention is drawing near to a close, but in spite of that the interest continues and at the last meeting the debate was the most general and hotly contested of any up to date. STUDENTS' UNION FOR NORMAL

Very few people know that there is a fund in Normal for the purpose of building a students' building such as other schools have called students' union buildings. This fund at the present time amounts to about two thousand five hundred dollars. It was started by the class of 1908, with a contribution of four hundred forty-two dollars and forty-three cents. The object of the class was to start a fund with the ultimate purpose of building a students' building for all the students of the school.

It was in the year of 1897 that an organization was formed by the name of the Women's League. Its purpose was and still is "to strengthen the spirit of unity and sense of individual responsibility existing among the women students of the school, and to be a medium by which the social standard of the school be made and kept high."

On Friday evening, November nineteenth, the sections entertained the women of the school, the faculty members and their wives, with a Thanksgiving party in the Association Rooms. The event of the afternoon was the most delightful and interesting talk of Mrs. Charles Curry on her experiences during the suffrage campaign in New York.

On Friday night, May nineteenth, the League arranged to have Mrs. Demarcus Brown address the school on "Her Long Road." Plans were made to have this one of the most successful entertainments of the school year.

During the year, many girls joined the League, as active and associate members in order "to bring about a greater unity and fellowship among the women students of the Indiana State Normal School."

KAPPA KAPPA.

The Kappa Kappa began the year 1915 with fifteen active members, and with the close of the Fall term rush season, eight pledges were initiated, making in all twenty-three active members, the largest number enrolled in the Fall term since the organization of the section in 1905.

Besides the active members there was organized during the year a Kappa Kappa Alumnae who hold meetings monthly besides the joint meetings with the active members. The year 1915-16 has been a busy and successful year for the Kappas, and besides the regular bi-monthly meetings a number of elaborate social functions have been given.

The first rush party of the year was a candle-light tea, given at the home of Miss Edna Glick of Ohio Boulevard, and proved an enjoyable affair. The guests of the section were the Misses Lena Andrews, Helen Milks, Leah Hollingsworth, Christa Mae Ahlbrand, Kathryn Kintz, Jane Neukom, Leah Flint and Katherine Newsom.

The Annual Christmas party at which both active and alumnae members were present was held at the home of Miss Mildred Hanley. This is always a happy event from the fact that it marks the return of a number of loyal Kappas to the familiar circle where old friendships are renewed and new ones made. Those who returned this year were the Misses Emma Dean Wright, Virgie Swain and Blanche Trueblood. After the holidays came the winter term rush season bringing with it its usual round of gayeties and ending with the initiation of the Misses Jewel Bright, Frances Dwyer, Madeline King, and Leone Williams. During this rush season the Alumnae entertained the active members and their guests with a Tea at Hotel Deming. Covers were laid for thirty-five persons at one long table in the tavern.

Plans for the Annual Spring Dance to be held at Hotel Deming in the near future are now being completed.

The active members of the section are: Helen Larson, Inez Burk, Ethel Kisner, Margaret Brubeck, Madeline King, Frances Dwyer, Eileen Holler, Theo. Sauer, Jane Neukom, Leah Hollingsworth, Eleanor O'Connor, Doris Drake, Geneva Smock, Helen Burton, Helen Milks, Ethel Frisz, Virgie Swain, Ruth Smith, Vivian Benson, Mildred Hanley, Edna Glick, Lena Andrews, Christa Mae Ahlbrand, Lillian Wood, Gretna Wythman, Katherine Kintz, Katherine Newsom and Katharine Walsh.

GAMMA GAMMA.

The Gamma Gamma Section was founded in the fall of 1902, with the fifteen charter members: Grace Riehle Wischmeyer, Sarah Flint, Henrietta Herz Cohn, Anne Bigelow Eisenlohr, Mabel Steeg Lammers, Rose Duenweg Rush, Bernice Pierson, Forrest Cunningham Dellinger, Bess Locke Bailey, Georgia and Edith Flood, Fern Casto Eppert, Florence Redifer, Gertrude Pastor Austin, Norma Froeb, Lena Carson King, and Mary Walton. Since that time the section has grown into a membership of one hundred and eighty, with Mrs. Arthur Cunningham and Mrs. Allyn Adams honorary members. There are two divisions, the Active and the Alumnae.

The Alumnae chapter entertains the Active chapter every year with a boat ride in June, a Thanksgiving luncheon, and a Christmas party. Every three years they arrange for a reunion of the whole section, held in Terre Haute.

Besides the usual stunts this year, a very clever and unique party in the nature of a "County Fair" was given to the Active chapter at the home of Miss Eleanor Bauer. The guests surprised their hostess by appearing in country costumes.

The Active chapter entertained the Alumnae and their friends in the fall with a Hallowe'en dance at the Elks Club. The twelfth annual dance was held April 29th at the Hotel Deming.

W A D V A N C E

During the last year a number of social functions were given by the section. Miss Mary Frazier was hostess for a delightful dinner party while Miss Mary Paige entertained with a dainty luncheon at her home. A burlesque picture show was given at the home of Miss Ruby Fuhr in November. A dinner party at the Terre Haute House was enjoyed by both Active and Alumnae members. Others who have entertained this year are the Misses Margaret Stimson, Bessie Streever, Beatrice Kester, Helen Nehf, Bertha Phillips, Lillian Eppert and Julia Hall.

The Active Gammas: Helen Nehf, president; Helen Hitch, vice-president; Thelma Jobe, secretary; Athena Fischer, treasurer; Margaret Worsham, Mary Frazier, Beatrice Kester, Margaret Stimson, Kathryn Stevenson, Hilda Hathaway, Helen Pugh, Elsa Ahlgren, Agnes Shaley, Fara Seewald, Bessie Streever, Isa Mullikin, Gladys Brown, Mabel Drake, Margaret Zerbe, Esther King, Louise Hinds, Mary Paige, Harriet Hubbard Lillian Adams, Eugenia Flood, Eleanor Mayrose.

LLAMARADA.

At the opening of the fall term, 1915, the Lllamaradas who enrolled for the term's work were: Grace Stokes, Harriett Woolen, Vivian Johnson, Hazel Pruitt, Catherine Force, Kathryn Nantz, Dorothy Beck and Addie Harris. Harriett Woolen acted as leader for the term. The first social affairs took the form of "spike" parties. These parties consisted of a party at the home of Grace Stokes and a theatre party at the Hippodrome. The girls who became members of the Lllamarada section during the term were: Le Verne, McDonald, Ruth Louis, Kathryn Beecher, Irene Lorenz, Lillian Elmendorf, Lucy Harris, and Wilma Kester.

On December 18th, Hazel Woolen was hostess for a Christmas party. Tableaux, music and dancing furnished the entertainment for the evening. All the active members and many of the city members were present.

The first affairs of the winter term were a theatre party given at the Grand, January 7th, and a party at the home of Mrs. Arthur Clark, Addie Harris acting as hostess.

A George Washington party was given at the home of Grace Stokes, Feb. 19.

The main affair of the term was a dance given at the Elks Hall, March 11.

Feb. 4th, Eva Moore, Dorothy Owens, Laura Mason and Cecil Brown were initiated into the mysteries of Lllamaradaism.

Hazel Pruitt acted as leader during the winter term and was re-elected for the spring term but she withdrew from school and Catherine Force took her place. She proved forceful enough to make the term one to be remembered by all Lllamaradas who were attending school.

The big affair of the season was the annual May dance given at the Elks Hall, May 20. The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors, green and white. The programs were very novel and artistic. Punch and wafers were served.

The Lllamarada reunion proved to be very successful. The girls were entertained at the homes of the city members and a dinner was given at the Elks, June 28.

All in all this school year has been one to be remembered by the Lllamarada girls.

PI ZETA.

The Pi Zeta Chapter of the Women's League was founded in the year 1904, having for its chief aim the general advancement of its members, socially, morally, and mentally. During the twelve years of its existence, many names have been added to the chapter roll and a close bond of friendship exists among the "sisters" wherever they may be.

The Chapter has just finished one of the most pleasant and successful years in its history. At the beginning of the fall term 1915, only a few members were present to take up the year's work, but under the leadership of Vinco Moore, with the loyal support of the active members, the Chapter has grown until its present active membership consists of twenty enthusiastic members. They are the Misses Vinco Moore, Glen Gobin, Mary Wright, Agnes Bond, Goldie Smedley, Bonnie Reed, Mary Meyer, Elma Switz, Gladys Ferree, Daphne Denny, Daphne Chunn, Ethel Runyan, Louise McClain, Mae Elliott, Pearl Johnson, Harriet Mehaffe, Grace Gass, Ella Williams, Eunice Cox.

During the past year many delightful parties have been given. The big affair of the season was the annual May dance given at the Elks Hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in the colors, yellow and blue. Plans are being made for the annual reunion to be held Commencement week. At this reunion the active members will give a picnic at Forest Park for the Alumnae.

The members to be graduated this June are Daphne Chunn, Vinco Moore, Mary Wright, and Louise McClain. Several of the girls will be in school next year to continue the good times and keep the old members in touch with the work of the local chapter.

ATHLETA.

The Athleta Section of the Woman's League was organized in the fall of 1904. It began with thirteen members and has steadily increased until it now has a large chapter roll. The Alumnae are organized and always takes an active part in social affairs. Mrs. C. C. Jones is president of the Alumnae this year.

The fall term of 1915 began with but five members with Beulah McCullough as leader. The crowd increased to eleven on pledge day. The regular meetings were held once a month and the business of the section was properly cared for. After the business affairs a pleasant social time was had.

On December 23, a delightful Christmas party was given at the home of Beulah McCullough. The evening passed only too quickly as we sat around the fireplace and received gifts from the brilliantly lighted tree. A 5 o'clock tea was given at the Hotel Deming on February 29. This was in the nature of a get-together affair for the Alumnae and active girls. Mrs. Mandeville a recent bride who was formerly Miss Louise Wilson was the guest of honor. The annual Valentine dance was postponed this year to March 4. It was given at the Elks Hall. On April 10, a dinner was given at the Root Tea Room. There were about forty present including many of the Alumnae and several guests.

The active members this season have been: Lorena Colvin, Lois Duvall, Grace Lufkin, Burah Mae Treadway, Ina Phipps, Irene Keller, Beulah McCullough, Nell Seath, Lois Jane Shirley, Lucile Hoover, Anne Martindale, Anna Pearl Hamilton, Irene Madden, Ethel Seward, Threna Lindley, Minnie Ashberger, Clara Weaver, Audrey Ross, Jennie Houston, Margaret McCormick, Alta Yates, Marie Robertson, Inda Wise, Ruth Simmons, Gurtha ("Jimmy") Sullivan, Cleo Merriwether, Bertha Kickler, Inez Lillian Berry.

PSI THETA.

The Psi Theta Sorority has enjoyed a very pleasant year. There were only a few members present at the beginning of the fall term to support the section. During the past three terms, however, the society has prospered and is now quite large. It has had many delightful times. Among its social functions are: "Rush" Party, Blanche Johnson, Alumna; "Rush" Party, Winter Picnic, Rose Woody; Party, Elsie Veit, Alumna; "Rush" Theatre Party followed by luncheon at Valentine's; Initiation Party, Eva Lee; Taffy Pull, Eva Lee; Afternoon Thimble Party, Florence Bradberry; Initiation Party, Blanche Johnson, Alumna; weiner and marshmallow roast, Rose Woody; "Rush" Party, 6:00 o'clock dinner at Root's Tea Room; "Rush Party, Eva Lee; Initiation party; Annual Banquet; Annual May Breakfast.

The officers are: Helen Burgoyne, leader; Florence Bradbury, vice-leader; Lottie Enser, treasurer; Belle Mater, secretary.

Members active during the year are: Helen Burgoyne, Eva Lee, Vera Rhyan, Lottie Enser, Nina Wright, Martha Pedlar, Joy Stewart, Florence Bradbury, Lillie Kellum, Ivah Trout, Laura Rohm, Jewel Ferguson, Frieda Ferguson, Myra Ford, Elizabeth Booe, Alice Bliss, Huldah Gillaspie, Elma Knapp, Muriel Palmer, Martha Foster, Elizabeth McNealy, Rose Woody, and Belle Mater.

ALPHA.

The Alpha Chapter of the Women's League was founded in September, 1899, by Beth Parker Kidder, now of Alexandria, Louisiana. It was one of the first two chapters to be founded at Indiana State Normal. The charter members were: Mrs. Beth Parker Kidder, Mrs. Helen Layman Dix, Mrs. Edna Crapo Hyneman, Mrs. Katherine Gilkeson Dickens, Mrs. Edna Reagan Lybrand, Mrs. Sally Dickinson Craig, Mrs. Bertha Blything Watkins, Mrs. Charlotte Ostrander Wagner, Mrs. Addah McWilliams, Miss Blanche Tyrrel, Miss Zayda Scovell, Miss Alice Wood, Miss Winifred Muir, Miss Cecil White, and Miss Anne Keating.

The Alpha Alumnae has a permanent organization in Terre Haute, all members of the Alpha Chapter not in school being members. The officers for the year 1915-16, are: Miss Elizabeth Crawford, president; Miss Bertha Smith, secretary, and Cecil White, treasurer.

Both the Active Chapter and the Alumnae are planning to make the biennial reunion, to be held during commencement week, a great success.

During the last year a number of delightful parties have been held, among these the annual dance given May fifth, at the Hotel Deming. Last Fall the following officers for the year were elected, Anna Mae Thomasson, leader; Nola Noland, vice-president; Emilie Zobel, secretary, and Georgia Sigler, treasurer.

THE ACTIVE CHAPTER: Seniors—Margaret Gillum, Nola Noland, Lucile Armstrong, Emilie Zobel, Anna Mae Thomasson, Louise Cooper, Marie Hazelrigg, Georgia Sigler, Florence Fox. Juniors—Ailsa Craig, Sarah Wright, Helen Williams, Katherine Connely. Sophomores—Mary Turney, Pauline Evans, Isabelle Brown, Jane Goldsmith. Freshmen—Marie Reiman, Lois Meehling, Ruth Jones, Esther Hance, Thelma Dodson.

OMEGA.

The Omegas have enjoyed a very pleasant year, owing to the social affairs which were given in honor of the guests and the Alumnae. The Annual dance was given February the twenty-sixth at the Elks Club. Decorations and the color scheme were in harmony with the emblem, the rose, and the colors of the section. Many of the Alumnae and out of town girls attended the dance. The chaperons were, Mr. and Mrs. U. O. Cox, Miss Ivah Rhyan and Mr. V. C. Miller.

Many other social affairs were given at the home of the Misses Frieda Glavecke, Mabelle Pierce, Katherine Flaherty, Iris Senour, and Straussa Pruitt. Other parties were given in form of theatre and luncheon parties.

The pledges of the year are the Misses Ruth Reynolds, Ivah Price, Maybelle Pierce, Mae O'Laughlin, Enid Cochran, Ethel Meighen, Mildred Wilt, Wood, Westphal, and Kendall. The active members for the spring term are: Ivah Cox, Frieda Glavecke, Iris Senour, Straussa Pruitt, Ivah Price, Anna Kasameyer, Ruth Reynolds, Mae O'Laughlin, Enid Cochran, Katherine Flaherty, Maybelle Pierce, Ethel Meighen, Hester Cline, Rose Schmidt, and Helen Hinton.

EPSILON DELTA.

The members of the Epsilon Delta section in school at the beginning of the Fall term were: Edna Barnes, Elnora Eichinger, Hallie Farmer, Mildred Mason, Ida Sunderman, and Bertha Harris. Mildred Mason accepted a position shortly after school began. The members organized with Edna Barnes, secretary, and Bertha Harris, leader. The pledges for this term were: Ermyrtrude Ash, Julia Dopfer, Gertrude Greene, Florence Guthrie, Lillian Hamman, Constance Heck, Minerva Payton, Dale Rupe, Ersell Streit, and Maude Workman. They all heartily enjoyed the social affairs of the season. The Christmas party, given by Emma George, an Alumna was one of the special features.

The new member of the Winter term was Edith Morris. During this term the members were delightfully entertained by Dale Rupe, Florence Guthrie, and Ermytrude Ash with a Valentine party; by Julia Dopfer and Maude Workman with a George Washington party; and by Edna Barnes, Elnora Eichinger, Lillian Hamman, and Constance Heck, with an elaborate 6 o'clock dinner at Root's tea room.

The section has planned for the latter part of the Spring term a trip home with Minerva Payton, who lives near Clinton; a picnic and a delightful surprise for the seniors, who are Edna Barnes, Hallie Farmer, Lillian Hamman, Dale Rupe, and Ersell Streit.

Zoe Richardson was the new Spring member. The Epsilon Delta girls have spent a profitable and pleasant year together. The happiest memories of their school year are centered about these good times as members of this section. The members who complete their school work in June will always wear their pins with pride and look forward to many happy reunions in the future.

Oratorical and Debating League

The Oratorical and Debating League, organized in the Fall Term of the school year with Richard R. Sigler as president, Everett Rasor as vice-president, Emun Barnes as secretary, and Glen Bailey as treasurer. The League is composed of delegates from the debating and literary societies and from the four classes of the school. Each organization sends two delegates to represent it in the League. There were twenty-two delegates this year, being the largest number since the League was organized. The League operates under the supervision of the Public Speaking Department, and the League owes much of its success to the efforts and direction of Professor Bacon in coaching the debaters and looking after the inter-collegiate affairs.

During the school year a great deal of debating and oratorical ability has been developed in the school. In June, 1915, Benj. F. Stephenson represented the school in the first Inter-collegiate Discussion Contest, on the Constitution of Indiana, held at Indianapolis, with credit to himself and the school. Nine Colleges of the State were represented and the interest was such that it was decided to make it an annual affair. Normal will be represented again this year and of course will receive her share of the honors.

On February 12, 1916 the annual inter-society debate was held in Normal Hall, before the largest audience that ever assembled there to hear a debate. The Trojan Literary Society made its maiden attempt in the field of inter-society debating. The Trojan debaters were John Henderson, Clarence Orman, and C. E. Riehl. They defended the affirmative side of the question; "Resolved, that the Principle of State Socialism is Superior to the Principle of Free Competition." They were opposed by the Daedalian Team consisting of Lawrence Hopper, Richard R. Sigler, and Benj. F. Stephenson. After a terrible battle of words and clash of wit and argument the Daedalian team was given the decision. This event made the Daedalians champions for the third consecutive year.

As soon as the dust and smoke were brushed away, work was begun on the inter-state debate. Sigler, Hop-

The girls who separate for the summer vacation will be glad to meet again in the fall for another happy year together.

MU ZETA.

The Mu Zeta section of the Woman's League was organized in October, 1905. Miss Emma Abbott was chosen leader, Pearl Ellis, secretary and treasurer, and Elizabeth Lindsay, editor. Although the section still stands for music and contains a number of girls who are specializing in that line, other girls are now included in the membership. Music is made a feature of the bi-weekly meetings. Olive Wood has been the leader this year. The other active members are Emun Barnes, Belle Moore, Helen Wolf, Marguerite Debs, Christine Andrick, Lelah Stephens, Marguerite Allen, Hattie Von Tress, Zoe Wininger, Elizabeth Jakle, Nadinne Carroll, Eileen Robb, Pearl Mason, Hazel Faegens, Bertha Wininger and Helen Peterson.

per and Stephenson were retained as the negative team to represent the school at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, April 28, and Shannon, Henderson, and Orman were chosen to uphold the standard at home. Both teams were carefully trained by Professor Bacon, and no stones were left unturned in the preparation of arguments and rebuttals.

ALETHENAI LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Alethenai Literary Society was organized in the Fall term of 1906. It was originally intended to be only a debating society with no more than twelve active members. In a short time greater possibilities began to present themselves and work in the field of literature began, but debating was still held as its chief work. The good the society was doing manifested itself in so many ways that it was decided that more girls of the school should have the advantage of such an organization. Consequently a new constitution was adopted, one clause of which provided that the membership should not exceed forty. With the larger membership the interests were broadened until literature, debating, oratory, and anything which might forward culture, refinement and education along literary lines are now considered of equal importance.

At the beginning of the fall term, Olive Wood, Athena Fischer, Ruth Campbell, Georgia Sigler, and Mary Reece, former members, again entered school. They immediately set to work with intense interest, and at the close of the winter term there were thirty-three members. Throughout the year a competent program committee has spent much time and thought in preparation of programs to suit the needs and interests of the society. During the fall term modern writers were studied. In the winter term attention was given to the modern dramatists such as Ibsen, Tagore, Brown, Maeterlinck, and Shaw.

Aside from the special line of work they have studied practical training in parliamentary drill.

The social side of the society has not been neglected. Miss Helen Hitch delightfully entertained the girls at her home at 663 Chestnut Street with an indoor picnic.

The big event of the year was the entertainment and reception given for the Literary Societies and Faculty. Lloyd H. Taylor, impersonator, reader and entertainer gave a miscellaneous program, which was arranged with utmost care, with the proper proportion of humor and sentiment to give variety. The music for the evening consisted of a three-piece orchestra, whistling and vocal solos. Following the program the girls acted as hostesses at an informal reception in which dancing was the main feature.

The year has been one of success for the society. The growth in numbers and the nature of the work have been such that will add much to the reputation of the organization.

PHILOMATHEAN.

The Philomathean Literary Society is the oldest society of its kind in the school. It was organized for the purpose of giving its members an opportunity to inform themselves concerning the really valuable things in literature, music, and art. Through all these years the members have held this purpose in view and have constantly striven to realize it.

During the past year the society has made an intensive study of the modern drama. Some time was given to the study of the essential literary qualities of the drama and the distinguishing characteristics of the modern drama. Later, dramas by the more noted modern writers were studied in the light of the knowledge gained by the earlier work. In this way the society has studied during the year Ibsen's "Doll House," Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird," Rostand's "Chanticleer," Barnes' "Rosalind," Kennedy's "Winter Feast," as well as a number of the less important writers.

Believing that the increasingly important place which woman holds in the political and business world makes special training in the organization and conduct of meetings necessary, the Philomatheans have given special attention during this year to a study of parliamentary law and procedure. This study has been both theoretical and practical and the members have derived great profit from it.

In addition to its regular course of study it has been the custom of the Philomathean Society to give a play every year, having as its guests the other literary organizations of the school and the members of the Faculty. This year the society presented "The Piper's Pay," a comedy farce by Margaret Cameron. The play was carefully prepared and given by talent within the society. Following the play a reception was given to the guests of the society.

The Philomatheans have found their year's association very pleasant in every way, and are looking forward to the opening of another year of congenial work.

THE FORUM.

The first Forum meeting of the school year of 1915-16 was held October 11, 1915, at the Forum House, 502 North Center street. This meeting found seven of the old members, Messrs. Crim, Hahn, Brown, Bell, Lapping, Eckerley, and Bailey, present. The following men were elected officers for the fall term: Crim, president, Brown, vice president, Bailey, secretary, Eckerley, treasurer. During this term Messrs. Broadstreet, Curtis, Michael, and Crist were elected to active membership.

All the members attended the Alumni Dance given at Odeon Hall, Indianapolis, October 29.

November 1, The Forum moved to the old Forum house at 430 North Seventh street. The term closed with a good outlook for the society.

The winter term opened with the Forum in session January 3, at the House on North Seventh street. Mr. Brown was elected president, Bell, vice-president, Broadstreet, secretary, Lapping, treasurer.

The general sentiments at the first meeting were that more attention be given to social affairs this term. A "Washington and Lincoln Dance" was given Friday night, February 18 at the Phoenix Club. Several Alumni members were present and much interest was aroused in the work of the active membership. During the term Messrs. Loser and Rhoades were admitted to active membership. Mr. Broadstreet became an alumnus at the close of the winter term.

The spring term opened with one absent. The first meeting was held April 6. Mr. Hahn was elected president, Bailey, vice-president; Loser, secretary; Lapping, treasurer.

Preparations are being made for the Annual Spring banquet and dance to be given June 12.

THE ECLECTIC LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Eclectic Literary Society re-organized at the beginning of the fall term, 1915. The following members answered to the first roll call: Mabel Cooper, Maize Jane Elliott, Gladys Gray, Edith Hults, Mand Milner, Nona Noel, and Minerva Payton. The following girls have been taken in during the year: Garnet Overpeck, Edith Shewmaker, Hilda Chapman, Hilda Henwood, Agnes Bond, Edna Barnes, Ethel Smith, Eunice Cox, Lois Duvall, Eva Lee, Vera Rhyan, and Ethel Runyan. The Misses Mary Earnest and Gertrude Steepleton, old members of the society, entered school the winter term, and Miss Anna Kasameyer came in for the spring quarter.

The work for the year was entered upon at the beginning of the fall quarter in a very enthusiastic manner and has been carried on successfully throughout the whole year, although heavy programs made it necessary for a few of the members to be inactive during the winter and spring terms.

The literary work studied this year has covered a wide range; and many interesting subjects have been discussed. During the fall term the Society devoted its attention to the study of the Short Story. The lives and stories of Hawthorne, Poe, Henry James, Bret Harte, George W. Cable, Joel Chandler Harris, Charles Egbert Craddock, Thomas Nelson Page, and Rudyard Kipling were carefully analyzed.

The work for the winter term consisted in the study of a number of miscellaneous topics of current interest. Many present day questions were presented and discussed. Poetry was studied for the spring quarter.

Several social affairs have been enjoyed by the members of the Society during the year.

Among the graduates of the 1916 class are the following Eclectics: Minerva Payton, Maize Jane Elliott, Mary Earnest, Nona Noel, and Edna Barnes.

CICERONIAN DEBATING SOCIETY.

The Ciceronian Debating Society has finished its eleventh year, a year which, like its predecessors, has been marked by fair-mindedness, fair play, and a high standard of morals. The record of the society is one of which its members are not ashamed and for which no apology is needed. During the past eleven years the Ciceronians have met defeats and they have won victories; nevertheless, not one Ciceronian believes that defeat or victory, ease or struggle,—though not the least of these shall be forgotten,—are the things essential, the ends to be sought; but each member does believe that these and other things, whose resultants are the elements of character, are conducive to strong, self-reliant manhood, which will beget in others like characteristics.

This year has been devoted largely to debating and parliamentary drill, and the success that has marked all efforts is but a measure of the zeal and energy of the members. Questions of current interest have been discussed with vigor and with a sincere desire to prove the merits of each debatable phase.

Stimulated by the consciousness of success attained, and actuated by the same high ideals that have heretofore served as its standards of men, the Ciceronian Debating Society, through its members, both old and new, looks forward expectantly to the coming year with its opportunity to meet again its noble foemen and to prove itself a rival worthy of any steel.

Even as this Annual goes to press, preparations are being made for a grand reunion of the members in their Annual Banquet on June the ninth, the red letter day of the Ciceronian calendar. May all Ciceronians live for their Alma Mater and in no distant future may she be proud to say of them, "These are mine."

THE TROJAN SOCIETY.

The Trojan Society cannot boast of departed glories, nor traditional grandeur. It does not have the age which inspires respect and veneration. Whatever honor it has acquired, it has acquired through constant work and united endeavor. Each member has been ever ready to do his part for the glory of the Trojans and the honor of I. S. N. S.

The society was organized in April, 1914, upon the principles of efficiency, scholarship, and fraternity. Its talent was soon recognized in the field of debating, for in 1915 it furnished three inter-state debaters. This year the inter-society debate with the Daedalians was lost, yet the Trojans secured the entire home team in the inter-state contest.

Social life is not overlooked. In December, a banquet was given at the Hotel Deming to the members and their friends. Another function is to be given in June.

The society began work in the fall with twelve members: C. E. Riehl, Virgil R. Gunn, Paul Merchant, Clarence O. Schlegel, Raymond Shannon, Claude French, J. L. Tierney, Easperm Thomas, Lunsford Hall, John Henderson, Merle Perry, and Clarence Orman. Merchant left in December to attend Chicago University, and French graduated in March. During the year John S. Ketcham, Herschel Royer, Fred Sharp, Jerry Clayton, and Ralph Sparks were admitted to membership. The spring term brought back Judson Stark, Loring Halberstadt, and Napoleon B. Henson.

The future looks bright, and may it be the illumination of a rising constellation. Finally, when in the distant future the scenes, through which we are now passing, fade in the past, and when star after star has sunk into oblivion still may other stars rise to perpetuate the principles established by the fathers of the society, and to serve as beacon lights for the hopes and aspirations of their fellow-students.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CLUB.

During the last few years there has been a great deal of agitation for a new constitution for Indiana, but it has been impossible to arouse enough interest in the movement to secure a favorable vote in the elections. It has become evident that there must be a campaign of education for this movement before the voters will give their approval. Professor W. O. Lynch has been very much interested in the movement for a new constitution and better government for Indiana, and has taken an active part in the work ever since it was started. Realizing the need of instruction in practical civics, he conceived the idea of organizing a Constitutional Club in the Normal School for the purpose of making a constitution which would embody the reforms that should be included in a new constitution for Indiana.

The Constitutional Club was organized about the middle of the fall term. There were more than a hundred members, consisting of students and the professors of the History departments. The club immediately organized itself into a mock convention and began the work of making a constitution for Indiana. The meetings were held weekly and continued until the close of the winter term. From time to time speakers were invited to address the convention. Mrs. C. M. Curry gave a splendid address upon the subject of equal suffrage. At the end of the winter term the committees had made their final reports and all the material had passed third reading. Then the work was submitted to the committee on revision and phraseology for revision and arrangement.

Although the students did not avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in this work as generally as was expected, yet there was considerable interest shown in the sessions. There can be no doubt that the club was successful in arousing interest in good government for our state, and in giving some first hand knowledge in statesmanship and constitution making. It may well be expected that the influence of the Constitutional Club may result in better teaching of civics in some of the schools of our state.

THE DAEDALIANS.

The Daedalian Literary Society was organized December 12, 1907. Its chief purpose is to further the art of debating and public speaking. The work of the society includes the study of Parliamentary law, economics, politics, and history. A great deal of time and attention is given to oratory and debating. The work is not limited to any one field and it is the policy to include all school activities and to get members who are interested in various lines of work. An active interest is taken in all school work, such as science and other subjects as well as those that are more closely allied to the literary field.

He preaches well that lives well.

It is not a part of Daedalianism to boast of the past and rest on former laurels, but history is history and it is well that it be written. The record of the society in debating is not perfect but it is of such a nature that all Daedalians at the very mention of it renew their vows never to let the "Red and White" trail the sordid dust. The society has always had its share of men in State and Inter-State work and in the field of inter-society debating it has won five out of seven debates. This year's conquest marked victory for the third consecutive time.

The record stands as follows: 1909, Martin, Kaman, and Campbell defeated the Forum. 1910, Campbell, Parker, and Mitchell were defeated by the Ciceronians. 1912, Hemmer, Mitchell, and Wright defeated the Ciceronians. 1913, the Ciceronians defeated Stork, Wright, and Hemmer. In 1914 the team of 1913 was re-elected and this time was able to reverse the decision on the Ciceronians. In 1915, Sigler, Pyle, and Byrne defeated the Ciceronians, and as to modern history (1916) it need not be said that the young and budding Trojans received a severe frost bite at the hands of Hopper, Sigler, and Stephenson, and mighty Troy crumbled and fell.

Last June, Stephenson was sent to Indianapolis to represent the school in the first Inter-Collegiate discussion contest, "Need of a New Constitution for Indiana." On May 24, 1916, he was sent to Muncie to represent Normal in the second contest.

The society has been fortunate in that it has had a number of strong and capable men. The society always welcomes men of brawn, brains, and sinew, men who have personality and visions worthy of greatness. As this paragraph indicates the ideal of Daedalianism rests on Sinai's summit, but ideals are necessary for progress and long since this Daedalian wagon has been "hitched to a star." While the Daedalians are mere human beings, and in the common run of men, they love to say with Lowell, "Not failure but low aim is crime." Therefore it is hoped that those who read these lines will not think of them as boastful, but will consider them a bit of fancy and the play of the imagination in trying to create an Utopian ideal toward which to strive.

Work of necessity comes first with all Daedalians but they realize that the complete and rounded life must have its share of social activities. Among the social events of the society are the socials at the homes of the resident members and the banquets following the debates. A number of Daedalians return for the debates and banquets. As the Annual goes to press, the whistle of the launch may be heard calling each member to enjoy the annual boat-ride on the Wabash. As they think of the hot summer days, books, and work are forgotten for the moment, and visions of an enjoyable day in the open and care free country recall the Annual Summer Picnic.

The present year has had its trials and uncertainties along with its pleasures and joys. Each member has been the best Daedalian that he could be under the limitations to which all natural mortals are subject. Thus they trust that they have held to the standard set by their predecessors in scholarship, debating and oratory, and social activities, but still hope that self has and always will be subordinated to Daedalianism.

JUNIOR CLASS.

The Junior enrollment was small, there being only about a hundred in the entire school.

The officers were: Mr. Birch Bayh, president; Miss Hattie Dixie Von Tress, vice-president; Miss Lena Cook, secretary; Mr. Hugh Hays, treasurer; Miss Mabel Cooper artist; Mr. Shirley Orman, chairman of social committee; Mr. Clarence Orman, representative to the Oratorical League; Mr. Arle Sutton, member of Board of Control, and Mr. Ralph Schenck, basketball captain.

The class was rather inactive in social affairs, only one reception being given, which was both social and business in its nature.

The class was fortunate in having a few basketball stars in its ranks. During the term inner class games were played resulting in our winning from the Freshmen and Seniors.

The number of Juniors during the winter quarter was small compared with the other classes, yet they were quite active in the school affairs.

During the fifth week of the term, Miss Von Tress, vice-president during the Fall Term, called a meeting for the purpose of electing officers for the Winter Term. Mr. Paul E. Harris was elected president; Miss Maude Chaillaux, vice-president; Mr. Jerry Clayton, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Mabel Cooper, recorder and class artist.

Since there were no open dates the class gave no social affairs but planned for at least two during the Spring Term.

The first Junior meeting of the Spring Term was called April 5. The following officers were elected: Raymond Kautz, president; Elnora Eichinger, vice-president; Agnes Bond, secretary; Alfred Chaplin, treasurer. At this meeting the class decided to have a dance and reception soon.

The President called a meeting April 10, to discuss the plans for the dance and reception. It was decided to have this affair May 12. Later in the term the annual Junior dance will be given, providing the hard work which the heartless Professors deal out hasn't swamped them.

THE ST. THOMAS AQUINAS CLUB.

The St. Thomas Aquinas Club, composed of the Catholic students of the Normal, was re-organized at the beginning of the fall term of 1915. Meetings were held regularly every week and attended by a majority of the Catholic students.

Some attention was given to current events but the majority of the work consisted in discussing topics relating to the church. Miss Moran gave several interesting lectures.

He that falls in love with himself finds no rival

Some time was given to social events. Miss Moran entertained the club at her home and read a paper on "The Attitude of the Catholic Church Toward Science and Socialism." Father Aselm gave a talk to the club at Miss Welte's home.

The club continued throughout the year and had several social affairs during the spring term.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN.

Der Deutsche Verein wurde in Jahre, 1906, von den Herren Professoren Mutterer und Weng für die deutschen Studenten gegründet, um Geläufigkeit in der Unterhaltungssprache auszubilden.

Der ursprüngliche Zweck wird noch heute verfolgt. Kurze Vorträge über Gegenstände von speziell deutschen Interesse werden gehalten, und durch das neue Baloptikon und Ansichtskarten lernen die Mitglieder die deutsche Geographie und deutsche Kunst kennen. Gewöhnlich hält der Verein keine Sitzung in Sommer, aber vorigen Sommer feierten die deutschen Klassen Goethes Geburtstag. Die zwei wichtigsten Sitzungen des eben vergangenen Schuljahres waren die Weihnachtsfeier bei Herren Mutterer, und der Kaffeeklatsch bei Fräulein Cox, wo der Professor Roehli von der lutherischen Schule der Stadt einen Vortrag hielt. Für das Frühlingsquartal sind schon Pläne zu mehreren Ausflügen gemacht worden.

Y. W. C. A.

This year, which threatened to be one of the most disastrous, has proven to be one of the most prosperous years in the history of the Young Women's Christian Association. At the beginning of the year a meeting of the young women of the school was called to decide whether the Association should be continued or disbanded. After some discussion it was decided to continue the organization and the following officers were elected:

President.....	Agnes Shaley
Vice-President.....	Minerva Payton
Secretary.....	Hallie Farmer
Treasurer.....	Anna Rojahn

The work of the year has proven more successful than the most enthusiastic members of the Association had hoped. The membership more than doubled. The committee work was thoroughly organized. The Tuesday afternoon meetings increased in interest and helpfulness. This success was largely due to the self-sacrificing work of the chairmen of the various committees of the Association.

The work of the Association was greatly helped by the visits of our traveling secretaries. Miss Richardson, traveling student secretary for the Normal schools of the central field, spent three days with us. Her visit proved very inspiring.

Miss Trego, the secretary of county work, spent one day with us. As a result of her visit a class has been organized for Eight Week Club leaders. The local association expects to send out at least ten leaders of Eight Week County Clubs next summer.

By far the most important event of the year was the public week in which the fiftieth birthday of the Young Woman's Christian Association was celebrated with a month of special services, closing with a "birthday party" on March 7.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. has without a doubt had one of the most successful records in its history. It has really been alive to its opportunities to improve the standard of moral, spiritual and social life of the men of the school. It has been a real power, felt throughout the year as can be attested to by the membership and interest shown in all its undertakings.

The three members of the cabinet who attended the Geneva Conference last spring, felt the touch of the bigness of Y. M. C. A. work and determined to spread this spirit among Normal men. With this objective they started the year. The first meeting was held on October 4. In this meeting with State Secretary Rymer present, a complete cabinet was chosen for the year and these men have worked well. Weekly meetings followed by cabinet meetings have been held without exception throughout the year. The attendance has been very large, numbering nearly a hundred men on several occasions. Several joint meetings have been held and have proved a good feature.

Many improvements have been made in the methods of conducting Y. M. C. A. work. The voluntary pledge system was adopted instead of fixed assessments. This change meant financial success. A personal canvas of the men was made on two different occasions in the year to interest them in Y. M. C. A. work. The meetings have been such as are worth any man's time to attend. In visiting and student's aid much real work has been done. Several splendid social meetings have been enjoyed in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A.

One of the biggest events ever undertaken by the Y. M. C. A. was the Elliott Evangelistic campaign, planned for April 4, 5 and 6, but on account of sudden illness of Mr. Elliott it could not be held. Representatives have attended conventions at Huntington, Bloomington, Indianapolis, and Winona, and a delegation will go to Geneva this spring.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

No doubt you will find a number of mistakes in these write-ups, especially in regard to the spelling of names. A number of these mistakes are ours, a few belong to the printers, but a large percent of the mistakes are due to the fact that we could not decipher the cryptograms which were handed to us. We are not trying to shift responsibility but merely trying to place it where it belongs. The material handed us ranged from excellent to some that was unreadable. We attribute this to carelessness, for some waited until the last minute and then wrote hurriedly with the first material that came to hand. Hoping that you may bear with us in whatever may be found in the way of mistakes and that we have not gone far astray from the things you wanted, we beg to be as ever, yours for the best possible.

BASKET BALL.

At the beginning of the basket ball season there reigned in the hearts of even the most loyal fans the fear of an unsuccessful season. The thought of reconstruction has always been associated with those of despair, woe, and defeat. Nevertheless, thanks to the Coach, the team, and the loyal fans for their strenuous efforts, a combination was formed which struck many a fear into the hearts of Old Normal's foes. The record of this year surpassed that of the preceding year. Captain "Jenny" Shriner was the only veteran on this year's squad, but with the assistance of "Cupid" Curtis, "Butch" Bayh, "Hubby" Shields, "Dusty" Rhoads, "Big Ben" Powers, "Joe" Friedman, "Tubby" Loser, and "Jack" Grose, the following results were attained:

I. S. N., 28.... Merom, 25	I. S. N., 50.... Earlham, 33
I. S. N., 58.... Coalmont, 14	I. S. N., 17.... Dentals, 35
I. S. N., 32.Y. M. C. A., 26	I. S. N., 23.... Butler, 35
I. S. N., 54.... Alumni, 38	I. S. N., 16.... Winona, 23
I. S. N., 25.... Danville, 35	I. S. N., 32.... Earlham, 25
I. S. N., 16.... Wabash, 50	I. S. N., 20.... Wabash, 49
I. S. N., 17.... Winona, 12	I. S. N., 38.... DePauw, 20

At the close of the season the following men were awarded N's: Captain Shriner, Curtis, Bayh, Shields, Powers, Rhoads, Friedman, and Manager French. Loser and Grose were awarded monograms.

In the inter-class games which were played at the beginning of the season the Sophomores proved to be the champions with the Juniors a close second. The fight for the cellar position between the Seniors and Freshmen was long and fierce, but finally went to the lower classmen.

BASEBALL.

The Baseball horizon of old I. S. N. has that clear, bright, perspective that puts life into the hearts of the loyal fans. Captain Crim has the backing of one of the largest as well as one of the best squads that has ever started a season. In the opening game with the "Highlanders," our lads succeeded in their determination not to lose and the score stood 3 to 3. With this for a starter we throw our caps into the air, lift up our heads, and give the yell, "Bring on the rest."

The home schedule is as follows:

T. H. League.....April 18	Indiana University..May 31
Millikin University..April 29	Wabash College.....June 3
Earlham College.....May 12	Danville Normal.....June 10
Rose Poly.....May 19	Hanover College.....?
Waseda (Japan).....May 25	DePauw University...?
University.....May 25	Franklin College....?
Butler CollegeMay 26

TENNIS.

Swish! Swash! What is it? 'Tis the latest out! 'Tis Captain Binford with the rest of our tennis sharks making ready for that judgement day, the I. C. A. L. meet, when the tennis championship is to be decided. In spite of the fact that Normal has but lately taken up the sport of inter-collegiate tennis, we have all reason to bank our hopes on the ability of our victory aspiring sharks.

Before many years, may tennis, as a College game, find in the Indiana State Normal School one of its most loyal and enthusiastic promoters.

TRACK.

The track team of I. S. N. S., although composed for the most part of new men, has the promise of making a good record for the school. The annual inter-class track meet was held April 19, and was won by the Sophomore class. If running the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds, and doing several other equally skillful feats give any indication, the success of the team can easily be assured. A meet has been arranged with Rose Poly and one with DePauw. The Normal team expects to put forth their best efforts at the annual meet of the I. C. A. L. to be held at Rose Field under the management of Rose and Normal Athletic Associations, May 20, and if possible bring the cup to Normal.

Jokes

We wish to acknowledge the valuable aid of Misses Lewis and Kauffman on this section.

Neighbor:—"What are you going to do when you grow up, Martina?"

Martina:—"I'm goin' to teach phys'ology."

Dr. Hyde:—"How are you going to teach physiology?"

Martina:—"Oh, I'll get some flies, an' put 'em in a bottle, and then I'll teach phys'ology."

Herr Mutterer in German:—"It's Fraulein Schiff isn't it?"

Miss Schiff:—"No sir! It's Anita."

Miss Cox (while Miss Hitch is playing at Y. M. reception):—"Can't some one play?"

Miss Kisner:—"Why, Helen's playing."

Miss Cox:—"Oh! Is Helen trying to play?"

It was a very icy morning in mid-winter. Professor Sandison was picking his way carefully along the slippery pavement when his feet suddenly shot heavenward and he sat down with considerable force. Just at this moment Reverend Jones came by and thinking he saw a chance for a joke said: "Ah! Professor, the wicked stand in slippery places."

Professor Sandison looked at him a moment and then snapped back, "So I see, but I'll be dinged if I can."

Mr. H.—(After the dinner desert of gooseberries had been eaten.)—"Now, Miss G—, won't you give us a speech?"

Miss G—. "Gooseberries pucker my mouth, so I can't talk after eating them."

Her Room-mate:—"I'll take some home after supper then."

It was the third reel of Fatty Arbuckle's great thriller, down at the Varieties, when the film suddenly flickered out. The audience waited patiently, but time went by and no picture appeared on the screen. The operator adjusted the machine and turned it on again but though it worked nicely the screen was blank. Suddenly, the manager saw the trouble. He ran up to the balcony and in a stentorian voice bade John Bollhoefer remove his fat form from the balcony railing and the picture went on.

A BEAUTY SHOW—Aunt—Your bride, my dear boy, is wealthy and all that, but I don't think she'll make much of a beauty show at the altar.

"Bill" Irwin—You don't, eh? Just wait till you see her with the bridesmaids she has selected.

LOST—Paddock—Professor, someone is using a crib in your class!

Dr. Schilcher—Sh-h-h! How do you know?

Paddock—I looked for it in the library and it was gone!

The Feminish Movement

THE PAPERS!—French—Where are those papers?

Wheeler—In the blacksmith shop.

French—Ha, ha—I suppose being forged.

Wheeler—No, being filed!

WHY OF COURSE—"Pop," said Mr. Cline seeker after knowledge, "why do words have roots?"

"I suppose, my son," answered the weary parent, "so the language can grow."

SAVING THE COUNTRY—"Well, Miss Moran," said Mr. Baxter the evening of the Town Election, "for whom did you vote this morning?"

"For no one," returned Miss Moran with great dignity. "I crossed off the names of all the candidates and wrote out my principles on the back of the ballot. This is no time to consider individuals and their petty personal ambitions."

HE HAD IT—"Hullo, Sigler! What's this I hear about your having some labor-saving device?"

"It's true, all right. I'm going to marry an heiress."

The path of duty is the path of safety.

INDUSTRIAL ART.

1916

Be slow to promise, quick to perform.

TRY THIS GIRLS—"Why, hang it, girl," said her father angrily, "that fellow earns only ten dollars a week!"

"I know, father," said Miss Harris pleadingly, "but then a week passes so quickly when you're so fond of each other."

COLOSSAL IGNORANCE—Miss Rhyen—Can you tell me why the state exhibits are all closed on Sundays?

Miller—Well, I should say so! Don't you know that the States belong to the Union?

TWO SOULS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT—"I would I were a bird," sang Mrs. Wisely gayly.

"I would you were, too," sighed Mr. Wisely. "Then you could go South for the winter without its costing me anything."

Little Miss Treadway had been sent to the cellar with a pan. She dropped the pan, and her mother, hearing it, anxiously asked, "Are you hurt?"

"Why, mamma, do you think I would rattle that way?" asked Burah Mae.

HEARD IN THE HOLDEN BAREEE SHOP—Porter—Boss, yu sho' am dusty.

Brandon—All right, George, you may brush off about ten cents' worth.

Mr. Lynch—Did your new house cost more than you thought it would?

Mr. Roll—Yes, more than I thought it would; but I thought it would.

REPAIRING AN ERROR—Miss Fruechte was saying her prayers. "And please, God," she petitioned, "make Boston the capital of Vermont."

"Why, Johanna," said her shocked mother, "what made you say that?"

Johanna settled herself in bed. "'Cause," she answered, "I made it that way in my 'zamination paper today an' I want it to be right."

"Now, wouldn't you like to walk with your husband to the polls and cast in your vote with his?" asked the city lady of Mrs. McBeth.

Mrs. McBeth shook her head as she answered wearily: "For the land sakes, if there's anything a man can do by himself, let him do it."

THE CALL OF DUTY—"What does my little man want to buy today? Candy?" asked the kindly storekeeper as five-year-old Herschel Royer entered.

"You betcher life I do," corroborated Herschel, "but I gotter buy soap!"

HIS TESTIMONIAL—Powers—Is the Junction House a good hotel?

Curtis—Why, I wouldn't even lodge a complaint there.

NOT TO BE MISSED—Baxter—We must surely go to Egypt this year.

Breitwieser—Why Egypt?

Baxter—On account of those Pyramids. I see by this magazine that they are slowly wasting away. It would hardly do to miss 'em.

NO CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT—"Here is that suit I bought of you last week," said Shannon to the tailor. "You said you would return my money if it was not satisfactory."

"That's what I said," responded the polite tailor, rubbing his hands; "but I am happy to tell you that I found the money to be entirely satisfactory."

HALF ADMISSION—Mrs. Laubach—I notice your coat on the hall stand this morning is covered with mud.

Mr. Laubach—Yes, it dropped into the gutter as I was coming home last night.

Mrs. Laubach—And were you in it?

"How much is chestnut coal?" timidly inquired Brumbaugh.

"That depends," said the salesman. "A la carte, it's eight dollars; cul-de-sac, it will cost you fifty cents extra."

His Master's Voice

Mutterer—"Dr. Rettger seems to have a wonderful opinion of his knowledge."

Miller—"I should say he has. Why I have actually heard him attempt to argue with his son, who is in his Freshman year at college."

Miss Cox:—(Following a brilliant recitation in German on the part of Mr. Stephenson—by the by an extremely rare thing)—"Das ist sehr gut, ja wo, sehr schon." Now, Mr. Stephenson, suppose you were to turn over a new leaf in German and quit thinking about the "Annual and debates!"

Stephenson:—"Well, if I were to turn over a new leaf I guess there would be more German on the next page."

Sequel on the following day—Miss Cox:—"Now, Mr. Stephenson, if you say the classes of nouns every morning and evening, after your prayers, I'm sure you'll learn them."

Stephenson:—"If I wait that long I never will git 'em."

THEY SOUND VERY MUCH ALIKE—"McCauly is engaged, is he?" said Louise; "and is Fanny the bride-to-be?"

"No, she isn't," said Fanny's best friend; "she is only the tried-to-be."

Shriner:—"Oh! you should have seen the girls greet each other following the rush party today. My, oh my! I tell you I'd lie to get in one of those rush parties."

N. B.—The above inspires us to have you ask Shriner how he won the title "Captain Jenny Red Berry."

HOW IT WAS DONE—"Now, Willie," said his mother severely, "you have hurt your hand. I hope you have not been fighting again."

"No, ma'am," said Willie with an air of injured innocence. "Luther Lockwood called me a liar an' then he hit me on the fist with his teeth."

SUBSTITUTE—"So you have taken to carrying around a monkey? This is going too far."

"Well, you never go anywhere with me," was Mrs. Westphal's somewhat ambiguous retort.

BACK FROM THE HONEYMOON—Mrs. Friedman—Now, my dear, we must face this problem. Shall we settle in the suburbs or the city?

Friedman—You mean live, darling. Don't forget that on my present salary we can't settle anywhere.

PART OF THE OBLIGATION—Jackson—Doc. I owe you my life.

Doctor—Yes, and that isn't all.

NICE JOB—Winkenhofer—"What line did you say you were in?"

Sechler—"I manufacture a face powder that can't be kissed off."

Winkenhofer—"Who has charge of your proving grounds?"

A RETORT PRACTICAL—Mrs. Kelso—Several of the men whom I refused when I married you are richer than you are now.

Mr. Kelso—That's why.

Bogardus—"What lessons do we learn from the attack on the Dardanelles?"

Paddock—"That a strait beats three kings."

Clarence Trout—"I told you not to make me take a bath, ma. Look how plain that hole in my stocking shows now."

"Whack" Wright—Doctor, would you just as soon have a web foot put on that wooden leg?

Dr. Sigler—Why so, my man?

"Whack" Wright—So I can still keep the water from flowing into the overflow pipe when I take a bath.

DID HE WANT AN EXCEPTION?—Prof. Gillum—It will be your duty to toll the bell, take care of the furnace and blow the organ.

Mackell—Have I got to listen to all of the sermons, sir?

Miss Cox—Oh, officer! Someone has stolen my spark plugs!

Baxter—Are ye sure ye ha'd 'em when ye left home?

DISCOURAGED—Baxter (to Wheeler) —How remarkable. Here's a sign that says, "Speed limit 100 miles an hour."

Wheeler—I can't get no such speed out of this car, so it's no use tryin'.

JOY OF EATING—Griffith in a down-town restaurant was eating mush and milk.

"What's the matter?" inquired Holt.

"Got dyspepsia."

"Don't you enjoy your meals?"

"Enjoy my meals?" snorted the indignant Griffith.

"My meals are merely guide-posts to take medicine before or after."

MISSING—Miss Rupe—What do you miss most since moving to the country?

Miss Green—Trains.

THE JIBE—Grose—I'll bet you five plunks that I can run around that track in less than a minute. Has anyone got a stop-watch?

Eckerley—You don't want a stop-watch. Hey! Who's got a calendar?

HIS MISTAKE—"Wait a moment, lady; wait until the car stops." "Will you please not address me as lady, sir?" Miss Buck said sharply. "I beg your pardon, madam," said Brandon. "The best of us are apt to make mistakes."

OF COURSE NOT—Miss Jones (at front door)—Wouldn't you like to take the initiative—?

Miss Nance—We're taking more magazines than we can afford now.

Miss Shirley—Gimme five cents' worth of pills. Brown—Anti-bilious?

Miss Shirley—No, sir; it's father.

CARRYING IT TO THE LIMIT—Mr. Bogardus—Why did you name your son Eugene?

Mr. Johnson—To show he is the result of a perfectly eugenic marriage.

STRIKING—Mr. Turman—What do you think was the most striking picture at the exhibition?

Miss Treadway—The picture of "Innocence" in a gilt frame.

Mr. Sink—"Your cream is very good."

Miss Irons—"It ought to be. I just whip't it."

DEPENDS ON HOW YOU LOOK AT IT—"Here is an anagram describing something women should know how to use," said the puzzle-giver. "It is O-T-S-V-E."

"I know," said Miss Wilson happily. "It is 'VOTES.'"

"No," growled Miss Zobel, "it is 'STOVE.'"

Trying To Make Both Ends MEAT

Prof. Miller—"Gosh, this insomnia's gettin' worse. Can't even sleep when it's time to get up."

Brewer—I say, waitah, is this peach or apple pie?

Chas. Smith—Can't you tell by the taste?

"No."

"Then what difference does it make?"

"Why was it you never married again, Aunt Sallie?" inquired Miss Kauffman of an old colored woman.

"'Deed, Miss Amee," replied the old woman earnestly, "dat daid niggah's wuth moah to me dan a live one. I gits a pension."

AIDING THE ANGEL OF PEACE—"Jimmy Sipe," said the teacher sternly as she came upon the scene of hostilities, "why are you sitting on that boy?"

"He pasted me in de eye!" said Jimmy savagely.

"But didn't I tell you to count one hundred before you let your angry passions rise?"

"Yes'm, an' I'm sittin' on him so he'll be here when I git troo' countin'."

EXTREMES—"Funny thing about Miss Spaulding; beautiful clothes, but no style."

"There's where she differs from some others, who have beautiful style, but no clothes."

DIFFICULT—Mr. Curry—Quit this quibbling, Miss Allen. Who was King Henry VIII? Answer 'yes' or 'no.'

A good friend is better than silver or gold.

STORY NORMAL

Mr. Weng—There's no use talking, my dear, saving money does make one feel better.

Mrs. Weng—But I don't want to feel any better.

Miss Elliott—"The Bible tells us we should love our neighbors?"

Miss Smith—"Yes, but when the Bible was written neighbors didn't live so close together."

THE ELDER'S INSPIRATION—"This afternoon," announced the presiding officer at the conference of ministers, "Elder C. B. Bacon will read a paper on 'The Devil.' Please be prompt in attendance, for Brother Bacon has spent much time on the paper and is full of his subject."

DAD'S COMPLAINT—"Why is the parlor clock stopped every morning?"

"It's daughter's beau."

"Darn his impudence; I don't mind Kautz holding her hands, but why monkey with the hands of the clock?"

A WELL-LEARNED LESSON—"Well, John H.," said father as the precocious offspring returned from his first day at school, "what did you learn at school today?"

"Lot's o' things," answered John proudly. "I learned always to say, 'Yes, sir' and 'No, sir' and 'Yes ma'am' and 'No, ma'am.'"

"Oh, you did?"

"Yep."

USELESS—Wilson—Why do you drink so much?

Boston—To drown my troubles.

Wilson—Do you get away with it?

Boston—No, confound 'em, they can swim.

WITHOUT FEELING—Miss Warner had been sitting on George's lap since 8 p. m. It was now 11 p. m., and Miss Warner weighed 260 pounds.

"Dearest," she said as the clock struck eleven times, "you don't mind my sitting here, do you?"

"No, dearest, not now," gallantly returned George H. "I've been numb since 9 o'clock."

Thomas (explaining matters to Tierney)—"Just wait until you go down to hell with old St. Peter."

No wonder they say we are an uneducated lot!

Near Terre Haute, there is a big park-like estate owned by a man who has a strong detestation of trespassers. To prevent the violation of his privacy he has posted all manner of warning signs on his place.

One evening he encountered Pancake and McNealy taking a "lover's walk" on his property.

"Can't you read?" growled the owner, as he pointed to a sign.

"We can read all right," said Pancake.

"That sign there?" demanded the man, with another growl.

"We have read it," returned Pancake. "It says 'Private,' and that's just why we came down here."

HELP—"I can't swim!" shouted Chestnut in the water. He went under, and when he came up he shouted again: "I can't swim!"

Ketcham on the bank watched him with languid interest.

Chestnut in the water sank again. When he came up he gasped: "I can't swim!"

"Well, my friend," commented Ketcham on the bank, "this is a queer time to be boasting of it."

TWO SIDES OF THE QUESTION—"No," said the betrothed firmly, "you will never make me believe that opals are unlucky. Why, I was wearing them when I became engaged to Binford."

MISTAKEN ORNITHOLOGY—Rhoads—Loser is a funny chap!

Rhoads—He was out in California for a lark, and bought an ostrich.

"Nervous prostration or automobile?"

MARRIED MEN, NOTICE—"And when you eloped with the girl," asked a friend, "did her father follow you?"

"Did he?" said Friedman. "Rather! He's living with us yet."

The great Haney, laying aside professional cares for the evening, is attending a dance. Introduced to a beautiful woman, he asks her to dance with him and she graciously consents.

"You have been married several years," he murmurs, after a couple rounds of the floor.

"How could you guess that?" she asks. "I am not wearing my wedding ring. Do I look like a married woman?"

"Not at all," he replies, gallantly. "But I knew you were married the moment we started to dance. You at once began doing the leading."

Miss Hazelrigg—But I can't waste all that material. Meyer—Certainly not. Our idea is to cut it in half and make two "Advances" of it.

Mrs. Cox (Handing her husband a saucerful of white powder): Ulysses taste that and tell me what you think it is."

Mr. Cox:—It tastes like soda."

Mrs. Cox:—"That's what I told Bridget. She declares it is rat poison. Taste it again to make sure."

Miss Keller whose stock of baseball knowledge was not as large as she believed, sat watching a game that was proving very disastrous to the home team. Along about the eighth inning of the farce she turned to her escort and exclaimed:

"Isn't our Crim grand? He hits their bats no matter where they hold them!"

THEY DON'T KICK WITH THAT END—"Why," inquired Orman of the farmer in Missouri, "does Missouri stand at the head in mules?"

"Because," answered the mule breeder, "it's the only safe place to stand."

THOUGHT SHE WAS EVE—Archbishop Ryan has a kindly wit which some people misconstrue as caustic. While attending a dinner party one evening Miss Crawford whom he had been chafing thought she saw her opportunity and his dessert.

"A fig for you, your grace," she remarked, pointedly, passing him a plate of figs in their leaves. She was wearing a very low cut gown.

The archbishop simply smiled politely, and taking a leaf from the plate said:

"A fig leaf for you, Miss Crawford."

HIS MEAL TICKET—"I cannot live without you," Trimble murmured with a sob.

Said she, "I do not doubt you—unless you get a job."

CATCHING ON TO DAD—Hahn—Let's sneak 'round behind the barn an' smoke a cigarette.

Lapping—Too likely to get caught. Ever since Dad swore off New Year's Day, he's been sneaking around there to smoke his own.

WHY SHE WAS QUALIFIED—"And have you had any experience with children?" inquired the woman who was about to engage a nurse.

"Shure, Oi hov," returned Miss Carroll with a broad smile; "wasn't Oi wan meself wasnt?"

St. Peter—Have you ever kissed a girl?

Jewell—No, sir.

St. Peter—Has a girl ever kissed you?

Jewell—No, sir.

St. Peter—What are you doing here?

Jewell—Well, I'm dead.

St. Peter—Dead? You haven't even lived.

A DELIGHTFUL SURPRISE—FOR BOTH—"I was a good girl, mamma," announced Vinco Moore on her return from the first party, "and talked nice all the time."

"And did you say something nice to Mrs. Stalker before leaving?" asked her mother.

"I sure did," said Vinco proudly; "I said, 'I had a lovely time, Mrs. Stalker, and had lots more to eat than I expected.'"

DISTINGUISHED—Lockwood—Is Hopper distinguished looking in his new suit?

Raymond Miller—Is he? Why, people often stop him in the street and ask him to change a ten.

"TRUTH CRUSHED TO EARTH"—"The new naybors wants t' cut th' grass, mum," said Bridget, "an' wants ter know if yez will lend thim th' loan av our lawn mower."

"Lend them the lawn mower to cut the grass on the Sabbath?" asked the highly shocked Mrs. Gillum. "Certainly not, Bridget. Tell them that we haven't one."

THE SAVAGE DINNER CALL—Mary Wright and Walter Shriner had attended a talk by a returned missionary. On their return home their father asked: "Did he tell you about the poor heathen?"

"Oh, yes," answered Mary eagerly. "He said that they were often very hungry, and when they beat on their tum-tums it could be heard for miles."

EDUCATING THE BABY—Sounds of turmoil from the nursery brought mother running to the scene, to find the baby gleefully pulling little Hale Pickett's curls.

"Never mind, dear," she said comfortingly. "Baby doesn't know how much it hurts."

Five minutes later several wild yells from the baby caused the mother again to rush to the nursery. "Why, Hale!" she exclaimed. "What is the matter with baby?"

"Nothin'," said Hale with a cherubic smile, "only now he knows how much pulling hair hurts."

ONE WAY OF GETTING EVEN—A painful scene was being staged, with Claude French, his father and a slipper in the principal roles. Father gave voice to the ancient platitude. "This hurts me, Claude, far more than it does you," he said.

Claude gritted his teeth. "Then," he wailed, "keep it up. I can stand it."

Adv.—"Quick, Schockel, the needle," chuckled Sherlock Holmes, and he slowly wound up the Victrola again.

Mr. Roll and his son were walking through a fashionable street when they came to a portion strewn with straw, so as to deaden the noise of vehicles passing a certain house.

"What's that for papa?" said the child.

The father replied: "Why, the lady in that house has had a little baby girl sent her."

The child thought a moment, looked at the quantity of straw, and said: "Awfully well packed, wasn't she, papa?"

HOW HE COULD HELP BEST—An elderly negro had been run over by a wagon, and Riehl had rushed to the hospital to get the case. The sufferer looked at him coldly and said: "Go 'way fum me, white man."

"But I want to help you," persisted Riehl.

The old 'darker showed a gleam of interest. "Does yo'?" he asked. Riehl volubly assured him that such was the case.

"Den," said the victim, "yo' go out an' fin' dat man dat run ober me, an' bus' his haid open."

BANNING THE KISS—On the basis of a Huntington, W. Va., dispatch, describing Dr. E. W. Grover's recommendation of the "pat-pat" as a substitute for the unhygienic kiss, Dr. Sigler submits a few modifications of current literature to suit, as follows:

I planted a passionate patpat upon her upturned cheek.....

Faun stood demurely under the mistletoe, and in another instant I had deftly pat-patted her.

"How dare you pat-pat me, sir!" Faun cried.

"It is useless for you to struggle, my proud beauty," I hissed.

Seizing Faun roughly, I pushed the glorious head back, BACK, BACK, and leered into the frightened eyes.

"I am going to pat-pat you; do you hear, girl? To pat-pat you!" I cried.

"And now, gentlemen," said Haney, our guide, "would any o' yez loike to pat-pat the Blarney Stone?"

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN—"One of my daughters has tonsillitis," said Mr. Gillum savagely, "and the other one has sprained her wrist."

"That is certainly hard luck," commiserated Mr. Lynch.

"Yes," growled Gillum "Nothing works out right. The one who sprained her wrist sings and the one with the sore throat plays the piano."

Nothing is impossible to a willing mind.

THE SENIOR'S REVERIE.

BY EDGAR L. MORPHET.

Slowly beyond the city smoke,
The red sun sank to rest,
And darkness as a mystic cloak,
Advanced beyond the West.

Then one by one the stars appeared
And dotted the hazy sky,
Until there seemed to be venerated,
A trail of light on high.

The full moon winked at the city folk
As they passed along the street,
And smiled to himself as echoes awoke
To the tread of many feet.

Unmindful of the gathering gloom,
Unaware of the noise below,—
A Student sat in his little room
In a house in "Students' Row."

The story of four year's college life
Was furrowed in his brow;
Success in year's of toil and strife
Marked him, A Senior, now.

By the open window he sat and read,
Intent on the task begun,
No thought had he of going to bed
Until his work was done.

He scarcely noticed the April breeze,
Scented with fragrant flowers,
That whispered among the new-leaved trees
Of more delightful hours.

Unmarked by him a fire bell rang,
Somewhere not far away,
Sounding its news with resonant clang
To people along the way.

Then down the busy "Student's Row"
The jangling engines passed;
The curious mob rushed to and fro
And followed quite aghast.

The Senior, too, forgot his task,
And found a great desire
To rush into the crowd and ask
About the latest fire.

No matter where the house that burned,
The engines passed from view,
Then quietly the Senior turned,
His studies to renew.

But as he reached to take his pen,
He paused with out-stretched arm,
For to his ears there came again
A sound of new alarm.

A troop of jolly Freshmen boys
Came shouting down the street,
Reminding him of former joys
In many a similar feat.

Forgotten were his studies then,
His thoughts were turned aside
To visions of school life lived again,
Scenes he could now arride.

He saw himself, a country lad
As first he entered town;
Quite shabbily he then was clad
In suit of faded brown.

Quite carefully he then reviewed
His school life year by year,
With pleasure, too, again renewed
Friendships to him most dear.

He once was called a worthless lad,
And well deserved to be,
For he was then a Freshman "cad,"
Quite listless and carefree.

A Sophomore, he grew quite wise
And wasted precious days
In futile efforts to advise
Of his surpassing ways.

His Junior year was better spent,
More likely to inspire;
Much different then was his intent,
Much changed was his desire.

The Poet Writes His Ode To A Waterfall.

Then true it is, or seems to be,
That "dudish" Freshman boys,
Will in due time their errors see
And soon forego such "joys."

So HE had been almost a shirk
In school of former days,
But now success in Senior work
Showed rennovated ways.

A few more weeks of patient zeal
And he, a graduate,
Would step before the world to deal
With problems intricate.

But what events would be revealed
As day succeeded day,
In Future's folds were still concealed
And safely stored away.

The Senior thus reviewed the past,
And then sought Future's key,
For this stood out in bold contrast
As veiled in mystery.

Each fleeting thought called forth a dream,
Each dream a vision was,
Until each mood, a thought did seem,
Veiled in softest gauze.

His dreams continued to the time
When Future's distant tide
Brought in a vision more sublime,—
A visionary bride.

Then all at once, he seemed to hear
The pleasant, tuneful chime
Of wedding bells from somewhere near,
With his own thoughts, in rhyme.

Of twelve faint strokes, he marked the time,
The vision held full sway,
But as they ceased, the dream sublime
Began to fade away.

The wedding bells, The Court House Clock!
And Midnight!! Now he knew!
The Dreamer noticed with a shock
His work was yet to do!

As evening passed, the air grew chill,
And sounds ceased one by one,
But the Senior studied, as Seniors will,
Until his work was done.

PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE.

WALT MASON

When the wind blows shrill, with a deadly chill, and we sit by the cheerful blaze, 'do we ever think of the homeless gink, a-going his weary ways? The daylight's gone and we sit and yawn, and comfort is all around;
do we care a whoop for the dismal troop adrift on the frozen ground? You eat and drink and count your chink as you sit in your easy chair; and you've grown hog-fat, and beneath your hat there's hardly a sign of hair. Do you never pause, as you ply your jaws, devouring the oyster stew, to heave a sigh for the waifs who lie outdoors, all the long night through? It was good of Fate that she paid the freight, and planted you here at ease, while the other lads, who are shy of seads, must sit in the park and freeze. But she may repent ere your days are spent, and juggle things all around, and the bo may sleep on your mattress deep, and you on the frozen ground!

TODAY.

Sure, this world is full of trouble—
I ain't said it ain't.
Lord! I've had enough, an' double
Reason for 'complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me.
Skies were often gray:
Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin',
Makin' trouble last?
What's the use of always keepin'
Thinkin' of the past?
Each must have his tribulation.
Water with his wine,
Life it ain't no celebration.
Trouble? I've had mine—
But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin',
Not a month ago,
Havin' losin', takin', givin',
As time wills it so,
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way:
It may rain again tomorrow.
It may rain—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

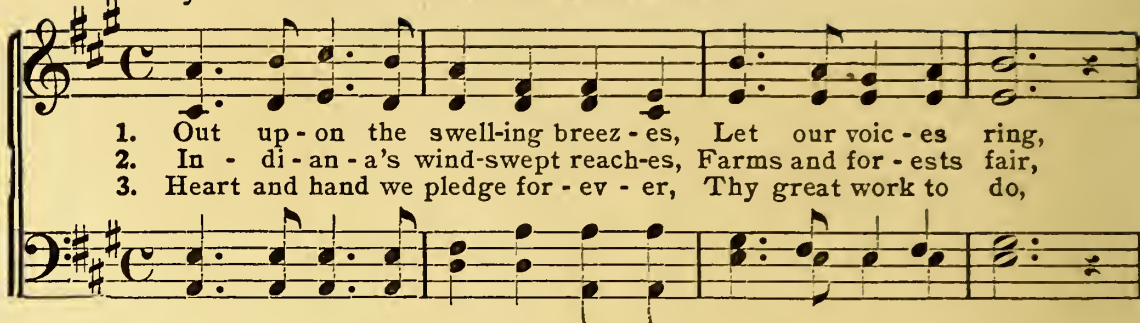

MODERN EDEN.

We went into the garden.
We wandered o'er the land.
The moon was shining brightly
As I held her little ——— shawl.
Yes, I held her little shawl.
How fast the evening flew!
We spoke in tones of love
As I gazed into her ——— lunch basket.
Yes I gazed into her lunch basket.
I wished I had a taste.
There sat my little darling,
My arms around her ——— umbrella.
Yes my arms around her umbrella,
The charming little miss;
Her eyes were full of mischief
As I stole a great big ——— sandwich.

If you would have a thing well done, do it yourself.

Liars should have good memories.

Our review:

If we may, we shall take the opportunity at this time, to express our thanks and appreciation to the faculty and the student body for the confidence placed in us when this volume was entrusted to our care.

We have gladly and willingly labored long and hard so that that trust might not be betrayed. The greatest pleasure of our College days is found in the many favors, honors, and kindnesses received at the hands of the faculty and students. And as the years glide away this toil and labor of the past will remain only as a pleasant memory.

As the ages roll away, may history's pages grow brighter and brighter with the deeds of men until the stars sing together as on Creation Morn. And when the silver cord is broken and the chains that bind are severed, may our Alma Mater live on as ever in her service for the State, the Nation, and the world at large.

We beg to be as ever your faithful servants

Yours in the interest of S. S. N.
